Message from the Board

Dear CLCL Residents,

We hope that this newsletter finds you all well as we continue to navigate through these difficult and uncertain times with COVID-19. These past months have proven to be quite challenging for us as we have faced multiple openings and closures of our facilities. With that being said, the Callingwood-Lymburn Board of Directors' top priority is making sure that everyone is safe as we try and navigate through a new way of functioning.

One of the difficulties the Board faces, is keeping in contact with the community and its members. The lack of person-to-person interaction has made it challenging to fill vacant board positions and ensure that your concerns are being addressed. We meet virtually each month, keeping the league active. Currently we need a Secretary, Membership Director, Communications Director, Playgroup Director (dependent on Covid-19 restrictions), Community Safety Director (Edmonton Neighbourhood Watch) and Health & Safety Representative. If you are interested in volunteering, we could use your help! Contact us at admin@callingwoodlymburn.com for more information.

Unfortunately, our annual Kites over Callingwood festival has been cancelled again this year due to the uncertainty surrounding large public gatherings. We are very optimistic that it will be back in the summer of 2022, bigger and better than ever before!

Also affected by the pandemic is our volunteering at Caesar's Bingo. CLCL looks forward to the time when we can once again engage in this activity. If you play bingo, Caesar's is offering virtual bingo games. If their website is still in development, check out their Facebook and Instagram pages <https://www.facebook.com/Caesarsbingo> and <https://www.instagram.com/caesarsbingowem/>

Know that we are all in this together during these trying times. We miss you all and we look forward to the day when we can all be together again in our beautiful community. We hope all of you have a safe and wonderful summer!

A Message from Councillor, Sarah Hamilton

Through my first three and a half years as your City Councillor, I have heard from hundreds of you regarding traffic safety issues in our neighbourhoods. Whether it be the need for crosswalks and traffic control upgrades, issues with poor sight lines, speeding or shortcutting, residents have been diligent in communicating their concerns to my office and to the Office of Traffic Safety. I want to thank those of you who reached out for being my eyes and ears in the community every day.

I want to let you know that we have had some substantial wins: since 2018 we have advanced 15 crosswalk upgrades in Ward 5, along with nine traffic control changes and six school safety improvements, with several more slated for this construction season. Some of you may also be aware that I introduced a motion in April to move towards removal of the southbound traffic control at the intersection of 188 Street and 69 Avenue. The intent of this motion, which was supported by City Council, is to facilitate a more equitable and appropriate solution to speeding concerns along Ormsby Road without pitting communities against one another.

In 2015 Edmonton became the first city in Canada to adopt Vision Zero, and since then there has been a renewed focus at the City to introduce new programs that will make our streets safer and more welcoming. Limited resources and cumbersome processes have made for a slower rate of change than I know many of you want as we shift towards building a safer city, but one thing is clear: residents want to see more tangible action on traffic safety in their neighbourhoods.

You may have seen in the news over the past year that Edmonton City Council voted to reduce residential speed limits from 50 km/h down to 40 km/h, which will be taking effect August 1, 2021. I wholly support this change. The evidence is clear; a modest reduction to residential speed limits will prevent collisions and reduce the severity of the accidents that do occur, making a meaningful difference to the safety and liveability of our neighbourhoods. I want to be clear that this will only be affecting residential roadways, so the speed limits on the major arterial roads that you use to commute or move between parts of the city will not be changing.

Turning to new programming that can be more responsive to specific community needs, the City has recently introduced the Safe Mobility Strategy. This is Edmonton's newest approach to achieving Vision Zero through safe and livable streets.

The Safe Mobility Strategy uses a combination of location-based and system-wide actions to support traffic safety, no matter how people get around. It is designed to be flexible and evolving, and will be adjusted over time by its outcomes. This will help the City tackle widespread issues that contribute to crashes, such as street design and deep-rooted cultural norms around traffic and mobility. There's plenty more to learn about, and if you're interested I would encourage you to visit edmonton.ca/safestreets.

Warm Weather brings out the Adventurous Cats:

Tips for Safe Outdoor Play The warm weather has arrived, and just as we enjoy the sunlight and fresh air, so do our feline friends. Some cats are content soaking in the sun through windows, others prefer being outside. If you have a cat that insists on going outside, here are some alternatives for keeping them healthy and safe:

-  Provide indoor natural enrichment like feathers and cat grass
-  Create hiding places and elevated sitting areas
-  Use a leash and harness for outdoor play
-  Build a catio or utilize fencing that prevents an animal from leaving or entering your yard
-  We recommend supervision of your feline friend at all times when outdoors

If your cat still has the need to wander, please be sure they are clearly identified and that their licence and microchip information is up to date, so that if they go missing they have an increased chance of finding their way home to you.

Please remember that although cats are allowed to roam, they remain safest at home!
